he Bishop of St
Phillips and Andrews
Cathedral, Mukono,
Rev Enos Kitto
Kagodo and Ms Cotilda Nakatte
Kikomeko, the minister of social services in the Office of the Nnaabagereka, commissioned a new lower section block at Kwagalakwe Day and Boarding
Primary School in Seeta, Mukono
District, last week.

The lower section block has classes from pre-primary to Primary Four.

At the same event, the bishop presided over the graduation of nursery pupils, and confirmed 30 pupils into the Anglican faith.

He asked the newly confirmed pupils to be exemplary in ways that portray a good Christian image, including promoting environmental awareness in their areas during the holidays.

He hailed the founder of Kwagalakwe schools, Mr Jonathan Ntulume, for his love and service to God, as well as to others, and his dedication to educating the nation. He applauded him for recognising God as the pillar of his development and urged him to continue serving in the same manner.

Ms Kikomeko, who was the guest of honour, also commended the school's founder, Mr Ntulume, for his creativity and tireless effort in transforming the lives of many.

In his remarks, Mr Ntulume, shared that the school had enabled many local children to access education in the area.
