The Future Stars Multi-sports Training Camp has burgeoned into a sensational phenomenon with parents trying to ensure that their children participate in the sports festival.

Scheduled to unfold from this Sunday to December 17 at the esteemed Gayaza Junior and Gayaza High School in Wakiso district, this 10-day extravaganza promises to be an unparalleled in player development.

The camp, tailored for boys and girls between the tender ages of 7 and 17, is the brainchild of Future Stars' dynamic sports program. Its objective is to identify, nurture and develop young athletes across a diverse spectrum of sports disciplines.

The camp is open to all children.

In an exclusive interview with Vision Sport, Simon Mugabi, the erudite CEO of Uganda Badminton Association and the camp's coordinator, explained the underlying reasons behind the overwhelming response to the camp.

"Parents interested in enrolling their children in the Vision Group, Prestige Margarine, and the MTN MOMO-sponsored camp can pay sh400,000/- per student/pupil through MOMO Merchant code 17645376. The registration and payment link is <https://gayazahs.sc.ug/FutureStars/>," he stated.

"This camp has been conceived and executed to align with global standards," Mugabi affirmed. "All participating children who demonstrate exceptional prowess and aptitude will be afforded opportunities to forge connections with premier sports academies worldwide, thereby securing scholarships that will enable them to pursue their academic and athletic aspirations without financial constraints. Our aim is to unearth and polish the latent potential and untapped talents of those who remain unaware of their innate sporting abilities."

Mugabi added: "With our cadre of expert technical personnel, certified coaches and sports educators, there will be an unforgettable experience for these young athletes. We urge parents to seize this golden opportunity and permit their children to partake in this extraordinary event."
