

Special needs pupil targets law

By Charles Etukuri

Fifteen-year-old Franklin Lule is among the 22 special needs pupils who sat for PLE at St Francis Mulago School for the Deaf, where he scored aggregate 22.

Lule, who is deaf, explained through his headteacher, Prossy Wanyana, that he successfully completed his primary education with the dedicated support of his teachers.

"The teachers were signing and I was writing. I want to study computer work and continue reading. I would like to be a lawyer like my dad if I get an opportunity to continue with my education," Lule said.
