"God is good," James Kiyombo, who scored aggregate four in the 2025 Primary Leaving Examinations (PLE), said. "He gave me unexpected marks."

Kiyombo, one of seven pupils who got aggregate four at St Anthony Primary School, Kajjansi, in Wakiso district, made the remarks while sitting on a bicycle gifted to him by the school.

"I thought I would get aggregate six or seven because social studies was very hard for me," he said.

The son of James Muhumuza and Maria Mirembe of Kitende was accompanied by his mother and brother, Amos Muhumuza.

His mother, Mirembe, expressed her gratitude to God for her son's excellence.
